DORA comes to life at Austin Landing

Wander Austin Landing and you will spot new signs, stickers and cups... a new way to have fun! The Designated Outdoor Refreshment Area (DORA) is up and running.

The DORA allows people with a specially marked cup the option of walking around Austin Landing with their favorite alcoholic beverage in hand. There are signs around the complex indicating the limits of the DORA, but rest assured, the park is included, and the designated area is expansive.

West Carrollton celebrates new schools

West Carrollton City Schools are celebrating the completion of two new school buildings. Miami Township staff recently attended a ribbon cutting ceremony at the new intermediate school on South Dixie Drive. Fifth and sixth graders will attend.

The new Early Childhood Center is located on Pease Avenue. Preschool, kindergarten and first graders will attend.

Miami Township based LJB Inc. was the civil engineering firm for the project.

Rockcastle Court reopens; sanitation work continues

Sanitation work along Austin Boulevard, east of SR 741, is on schedule. Rockcastle Court is back open to traffic, but the sidewalk and path into Waldruhe Park from Austin Boulevard will remain closed until the middle of December. Detour signs are posted for pedestrians to get around the construction by walking along Miami Village Drive to access the park from SR 741.

Aggregation update

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has now issued certificates authorizing the township to provide competitive natural gas and electric governmental aggregator services.

Our energy consultant, Trebel Energy, advises that they will wait to seek bids at this time due to current market conditions. They do not want to lock residents into a high price as a result of current inflation.

Police department named agency of the month

The Miami Township Police Department is the Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police Agency of the Month for September, for their outstanding community policing efforts.

An OACP nominating committee chose the department based on its positive work ethic and community involvement.

The committee released the following statement: "Chief Stiegelmeier and his staff work year-round to share their talents to better serve their community with a positive community policing strategy. Their creativity is clearly on display with the work they have demonstrated in their submission."
